The details

What happened?
Planet Organic is the UK’s largest fully certified organic supermarket with eight stores across London. With sustainability a core value promoted with suppliers, employees and customers, reducing the business’s delivery and servicing footprint was a natural next step.

Since Planet Organic Tottenham Court Road opened in 2016, the store has proven its sustainability credentials in embracing efficient delivery principles, negotiating noise and road restrictions to reap the environmental and cost benefits. Recently Planet Organic took another pledge to be being UK’s first Zero Food Waste food retailer.

In February 2019, the Store Manager attended a Transport for London Efficient Delivery workshop to understand the wider impact deliveries and servicing trips were having on the local area and to meet other like-minded businesses.

Solution
Planet Organic adopted a three-level approach – a Tottenham Court Road specific solution, an area-wide initiative, and a measure that the whole chain could take on.

- At Tottenham Court Road, Planet Organic worked with their suppliers to ensure at least 60 per cent of their weekly deliveries were received overnight, avoiding congested times.

- The store joined the local, area-wide waste consolidation scheme, run by the Fitzrovia Partnership, which aims to reduce the number of waste vehicles in the area.

- Deliveries were then consolidated across the entire Planet Organic family. Internal mail and stationery orders are delivered to one London store before being consolidated and distributed across the other stores.
