Links to useful web sites

Activity idea:

'Tales of the Road' road and cycle safety site

Resource needed: <http://talesoftheroad.direct.gov.uk/> (the following cycle site is linked from the main site) <http://talesoftheroad.direct.gov.uk/cycling-safety.php>

This site has tips and copies of the advertising campaign to promote road and cycle safety using rhymes. It's worth having a look first, as the campaign has a slightly spooky feel and may not be suitable for all class members. There are games on the site too for young people and it is aimed at a young person's age range.

Activity idea:

Walk to school

Resource needed: <http://www.livingstreets.org.uk/walk-with-us/walk-to-school>

Here you'll find more information about promoting walking to school, including the popular Walk Once a Week scheme. Do you run this at your school? It helps promote healthy, environmentally friendly travel choices and is fun and achievable for pupils and their families.

Activity idea:

Be informed about youth issues and developments

Resource needed: <http://www.london.gov.uk/priorities/young-people>

Young people can use this site to get information on current issues. The site offers opportunities for them to get involved and make a difference in their city, as well as ways for them to make their thoughts known.
